Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 19 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Feeling chilly initially but becoming more widely cloudy into Monday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Low cloud in the far east and along coasts slowly lifting through Sunday night, improving visibility at the surface but shrouding the higher ground. Feeling chilly in initial clear spells elsewhere before cloud spreads over all bar the far west. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Monday:
A largely cloudy day, but less murky for those previously affected by fog. West of high ground seeing the more reliable brighter spells but feeling cooler here than the weekend. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Staying settled for Tuesday and the start of Wednesday, though feeling colder with fog and frost in places overnight. Turning more unsettled and milder again later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.